Michigan Clinical Laboratory Society Recognizes Traverse City Businessman

Traverse City, MI – The Michigan Society for Clinical Laboratory Science bestowed on Daniel C. Edson its 2011 Board of Directors Award in appreciation for “his devotion and invaluable services” to Michigan medical laboratory scientists. Mr. Edson is President of the American Proficiency Institute, based in Traverse City, Michigan.

“I started my career as a medical laboratory scientist,” explained Mr. Edson. “So, it gives me great pleasure to support this important profession in our state.” Medical laboratory scientists perform laboratory testing used in the detection, diagnosis and treatment of disease. “These professionals deliver critical patient services every day.”

The Michigan Society for Clinical Laboratory Science promotes standards in clinical laboratory methods and research, enhances the professional status and image of its members, is responsible for providing educational programs in the clinical laboratory and related sciences, and assists in maintaining standards of competence at all levels.

The American Proficiency Institute is one of the largest proficiency testing providers in the world serving more than 16,000 laboratories. API offers innovative solutions and technical excellence for the proficiency testing needs of hospital laboratories, physician offices, clinics, and point-of-care testing sites.
